ROOSEVELT WHIPS THE OLD GUARD

Makes Good His Statement That He Would "Beat His Opponents To A Frazzle."

Colonel Roosevelt rode Tuesday on the top wave of victory, defeating Vice-President Sherman for temporary chairman of the Republican state convention and bowling over the "old guard" in the first engagement of a series of conflicts that are to come.

He had said the day before that he would beat his opponents to a frazzle and he did it.

There were 1011 votes cast in the convention of which Colonel Roosevelt received 508, and Vice-President Sherman received 443, thus electing the leader of the progressives by a majority of 125.

Colonel Roosevelt did not vote. Mr. Sherman voted for John Doe and two of the New York delegates did not respond when their names were called.

Colonel Roosevelt spoke feelingly of what President Taft had accomplished in his administration in his speech as temporary chairman, saying that the laws passed reflected high credit upon all who succeeded in putting them in their present shape upon the statute books. They represent an earnest promise of the achievement which is yet to come; and the beneficence and importance of this work done for the whole people measures the credit which is rightly due to the congress and to our able, upright and distinguished President, William Howard Taft.

The spectators and many of the delegates warmly applauded the declaration of Colonel Roosevelt for a direct primary plank.

Thunderous applause greeted Colonel Roosevelt as he was escorted to the platform by Vice-President Sherman and Cornelius W. Collins, superintendent of prisons and it was some time before he could proceed with his speech.

Thanking the delegates for the honor they had conferred upon him, the colonel caused the greatest enthusiasm when he said:

"You shall not have cause now or hereafter to regret what you have done."

Colonel Roosevelt in his speech as temporary chairman, spoke as follows:

ROOSEVELT'S SPEECH.

"We come here feeling that we have the right to appeal to the people from the standpoint of national and state achievement. During the last 18 months a long list of laws, embodying legislation most heartily to be commended as combining wisdom with progress have been enacted by Congress and approved by President Taft.

The amendments to the interstate commerce law; beginning of a national legislative program for the exercise of the taxing power in connection with big corporations; doing an interstate business; the appointment of a committee to frame measures that do away with the evils of over capitalization and of improper and excessive issues of stocks and bonds; the law providing for publicity of campaign expenses; the establishment of the maximum and minimum tariff provisions and the exceedingly able negotiations of the Canadian and other treaties in accordance therewith; the inauguration of the policy of providing for a disinterested revision of tariff schedules through a high class commission of experts which will treat each schedule purely in its own merits with a view both of protecting the consumer from excessive prices and to securing the American producer raised. For these laws and for the executive action which made them effective, more thanks are due to the legislative body and to the unflinching resolution and fidelity to a high standard of duty of Gov. Charles H. Hughes.

"Of course, with a party as long in control of nation and state as ours has been, there have been individual instances of misconduct and corruption.

"But there is an end of any other party raising the cry of 'Turn the rascals out,' for we have

TURNED OUR OWN RASCALS OUT and wherever rascality is found to exist in the future, we will be even more prompt to punish anyone of our own party adherents than an adherent of another party because we feel a MURDER AT RUMFORD.

Carmelo Puiria Shot And Killed Chas. Bundall, Saturday, Sept. 24, At The Oxford Mill.

Another sensational Italian murder case occurred on Saturday afternoon in the wood room of the Oxford Paper Co., when Carmelo Puiria shot and killed Chas. Bundall, a Poleander.

It seems that there was a feeling between the two men and had been for several days starting from some trivial remark being made by Bundall in which he called Puiria a Guinea. Puiria asserts that Bundall struck him on the head with an oil can but no one saw any thing of the kind and for some time past Puiria had been having trouble with several of the other employees in the room and Oldham, the foreman of the room, had told him that if he had any more trouble from him that he would have to go.

As Chas. Bundall was walking across the room in the discharge of his duty as oiler he was accosted by Puiria and shot through the heart. Mr. Thos. Oldham, the foreman, was directly behind Bundall and was in the act of putting his hand on the shoulder of Bundall when the assault was committed. Corner Elliott was summoned and also Dr. Greene. When the doctor got there Bundall had been dead for seven or eight minutes. Mr. Elliott summoned a coroner's jury composed of W. H. Moore, L. P. Merrill, John Gaudreau, Frank Stanwood, John Violette and Geo. Johnson. These men viewed the body at Howe's Undertaking rooms and reported a verdict as follows: Chas. Bundall came to his death by a bullet wound from a revolver held in the hand of Carmelo Puiria, in the wood room of the Oxford Paper Co.'s Mill.

Puiria immediately after the murder ran as fast as possible toward Smith's Crossing and then circled around the mill and finally came out by Parley Putnam's at East Rumford. He then turned his course and came back toward the bridge in Virginia. He found this guard and waiting his opportunity slipped by on the other side of the bridge met Chas. Lapham, whom he asked if he were going to the Falls and Lapham asked him if he were not the man that had created the trouble at the Oxford and Puiria replied that he was. Lapham then told Puiria to give up his revolver and took him in his team. Elliott had been telephoned for and met Lapham and the prisoner on the Falls Hill. Puiria was locked up Saturday night and his hearing was held on Monday morning at ten o'clock before Judge Stearns. M. McCarthy appeared for the defense and County Attorney Parker for the State. The only witness that was on the stand was Thos. Oldham, foreman of the wood room and an eye witness of the whole affair. Puiria was not balliable. Mr. Elliott started immediately with his prisoner for So. Paris to wait his trial.

Peculiar responsibility in dealing with the man who not only degrades himself and the public service but discredits our own party by belonging to it. Any man holding a legislative or executive position who is false to his oath of office, who is guilty of misfeasance or malfeasance, who holds to be a traitor to the whole people; and we have not permitted and will not permit any such man to remain in office where it is in our power to remove him.

"I believe in the party to which we belong because I believe in the principles for which the Republican party stood in the days of Abraham Lincoln; and furthermore and especially because I believe in treating these principles not as dead but as living. We can preserve the reverence of the people, not by stating that our forefathers preserved the union and freed the slaves, but by proving in deed as well as in word that we face the problem of dealing with political and business corruption and of working for social and economic justice and for the betterment of the conditions of life and the uplifting of our people, with the same fervor and sincerity that Lincoln and his followers brought to the great tasks allotted to them in their day.

BALLOTS FOR SHERIFF BEING INSPECTED.

Many Ballots Found That Are Questioned. Work will Require At Least Rest Of Week.

As previously stated in our columns the election returns in Oxford County showed that Bertrand G. McFintire of Waterford had been elected over J. Melvin Bartlett of Stoughton by 9 votes. Because of the closeness of the vote, Mr. Bartlett asked for an inspection of the ballots which is being done at the present time.

Mr. Bartlett has employed A. J. Stearns of Norway and Mr. McFintire has M. L. Kimball of Norway. The ballots of Norway, Oxford, Paris, Bethel and several smaller towns have been inspected to date.

The ballots of course are in the custody of the town clerk in each town, and are handled by him. In cases where the legality of a ballot is questioned by either party, a copy of it is taken, and these copies and the other information gathered are the material which will decide whether any further action shall be taken in the matter.

A large number of ballots have so far been found, the legality of which is questioned. It is understood that Mr. Bartlett seems to have gained several votes in Oxford while he has lost two in Bethel. The result of the inspection will be awaited with interest.

TAKING CARE OF SPARK PLUGS.

Much of the trouble with spark plugs becoming dirty can be avoided to a large extent by not speeding or racing the engine while idle. The high speed causes the oil in the crank case to be splashed up on the walls of the cylinders and into the plugs. This oil is then carbonized by the heat of the explosion, causing short circuits in the plugs. The electric discharge, instead of taking place between the points of the plug, creeps across the carbon deposit, which kills the life of the spark, thus causing the cylinder to miss fire.

Much of the carbon deposit in cylinders can be avoided by giving the inside of the cylinders a bath of kerosene oil frequently. This should be done while the engine is warm, immediately after returning from a trip. Remove the plugs and squirt one-third of a quart of kerosene into each cylinder, taking pains to squirt the oil around on the walls as much as possible.

Replace the plugs and let stand several hours. Then start the engine to burn out the oil and carbon that has been loosened. A dense smoke will issue from the muffler exhaust until all the kerosene is burned. Clean the plugs, and the engine will run without a miss if the other parts are mechanically right.

Some spark plugs are designed to be taken apart for cleaning, while others are not made to take apart, but instead are self cleaning to a certain degree. In cleaning plugs that can be taken apart first remove the porcelain cover and break off the carbon deposit with a toothbrush dipped in gasoline or ammonia, then scrape off all the carbon from the rest of the plug, brighten the spark points and reassemble. Plugs that cannot be taken apart easily should be brushed out well with ammonia and the points brightened.

Most people are at a loss to know how to set spark plug points so as to get the best and most even explosion in all cylinders. After cleaning the plug parts thoroughly screw them together. Then if you can slip a new silver dime between the points the distance is correct. Otherwise make the distance between the points to equal the thickness of a dime.

Postscript—Then you like these town albums to send you these new-fangled snazzy postal cards made out of leather?

These Weatherly—By heck, yes! I ain't so much on sentimental cards, but when they are made out of leather they come in handy to send boots with.

LOCAL HISTORY.

Court Houses and Places of Records.

Incidental Memorandum—By Leonard B. Chapman. Number 75.

IN SEVERAL PARTS—PART FIVE.

I should have stated in my article of last week that in 1793 a newspaper called "The Telegraph" was published in Wiscasset but nothing is publicly known of the periodical beyond the fact that such a sheet once existed and the whereabouts of a part of a copy which bears the date of June 22 of that year which was used as a wrapper to a package of cancelled bills of sale of merchandise.

Prior to the year of 1818 the matter of erecting a new court house for Lincoln county was agitated; Mr. Joseph Wood the custodian of the two papers relating to the hall that was erected in Wiscasset in anticipation of the coming of the county courts which have been noticed, holds another of historical value. It is headed

"NEW COURT HOUSE."

"The Court of Sessions passed the following Order for a new Court House, May 22, 1823, on a plan reported by a committee at the April term of 1818.

"Committee on location: Hon. Elias C. Clapp; John Dole, Esq. and Hon. Isaac G. Reed; to use any plan the committee may approve; that the committee be empowered to take a deed of a lot.

"That Nathaniel Coffin, Esq., be appointed an Agent to build the Court House at an expense not exceeding $5,000. The committee to examine the bank building and see if it can be converted into a Court House."

I am not giving here every word of the old, well-worn manuscript paper, but have condensed statements as the whole document would take up too much room.

At this period in the history of old Wiscasset the village was in its zenith of prosperity. Its vessels built by its own skilled labor, from products of its own virgin soil, sailed every sea; necessary warehouses were erected along the water front; merchants and men of the learned professions erected for themselves fine residences and fared

BURNHAM AND MORRILL TO PAY 2 1/2 CENTS FOR SWEET CORN.

The Burnham and Morrill Co., opened its books last week for signing acreage of sweet corn for next season's pack and the price to be paid is 2 1/2 cents per pound.

For 2 years the farmers have tried to secure this price and the Burnham and Morrill Co. is the first to pay this price.

SHAW BUSINESS COLLEGE.

The Shaw Business College has just placed an order with the Remington Typewriter Co. for thirty of their latest model typewriters, part of the order having the Wahl Adding Attachment. This is the largest order for typewriters ever placed in Maine, exceeding by five the order given by the same institution four years ago. The Shaw is the first Maine institution to introduce the Wahl Adding Attachment into its course of study, and proves conclusively that the policy of the management is to equip its schools with all up-to-date appliances.

BURGLARS MAKE BREAKS AT CANTON.

At Canton Friday night, burglars entered the post office, Hicknell's blacksmith shop and P. C. Barker's grain and feed store. At Barker's store nothing was found missing. They took the cash box from the safe which was unlocked at the post office and carried it away with them. The box, however, contained only papers. They also took 25 pennies from the office money drawer.

At Hicknell's blacksmith shop, wrenches, files, a bar of calking steel, hammer and a piece of iron which they used for a jimmy were taken and were found near the postoffice. Some of the tools looked as though they had been recently hammered. There is no clue to the whereabouts of the burglars.

CORN SHOP AT BETHEL.

The corn shop finished the season's canning Saturday, Sept. 24, and paid the buyers Sept. 27, and other help in the various departments.

A car load of box shuck is expected this week and labeling will begin as soon as possible. 75,000 cases of corn have been packed this year and the corn was of unusual good quality and gathered in first class condition.

The farmers have had a successful season and the manager, Mr. Whitman, is confident that there will be an advance in the price next year and 2 1/2 cents per pound will be realized. This will encourage the farmers to increase the acreage.

Mr. Whitman has most successfully managed the shop in all its details and there are the best of relations existing between him and the farmers. All the departments have been carefully looked after by the several superintendents and the year of 1910 has given the best satisfaction to all concerned. Mr. Whitman will remain until all the corn is shipped and will carry to his home the wish of all that he will return for the season of 1911.

MANSUR—WELCH.

A very pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. K. Welch at East Rumford on Wednesday evening, Sept. 21st, when their daughter, Miss Grace Louisa Welch and Mr. Arthur H. Mansur were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Rev. E. W. Webber of Livermore, formerly of Rumford, performed the service using the single ring service.

The bride party entered the parlor to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Miss Marguerite McKeen, and took their places beneath an arch of evergreen and hydrangeas. The bride was attended by her father, Mr. Jas. K. Welch, Mrs. John Welch acting as matron of honor and Mr. John Welch as best man. Little Miss Jeanette Welch made a charming little flower girl.

The bride was becomingly gowned in an elaborate dress of white satin with a yoke of princess lace and pearl trimmings. Her tulle veil was caught and held in place by sprays of lilacs of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses.

Mrs. John Welch wore white gown veiling and carried carnations. Little Miss Welch was most daintily gowned in white with a pink sash and carried a bunch of sweet peas.

A reception was held immediately after the wedding and was attended by a large number of friends. Miss Eva Swaine, Miss Evelyn Abbott and Miss Lydia Abbott served punch, fancy crackers, ice cream and cake.

The bride's gift to her matron of honor and pianist was a gold brooch, to the flower girl a locket and chain. The groom presented the best man with a scarf pin set with pearls.

Mr. and Mrs. Mansur are both well known young people in the town. Mrs. Mansur was a graduate of the Rumford Falls High School in the Class of 1902 and has a great many friends throughout the town. Mr. Mansur has been an employee in the Continental Paper Bag Co. for several years and has also made many friends. After a brief automobile trip the young couple will make their home in Rumford.

GEMS."I'LL DO WHAT I CAN."
Who takes for his motto "I'll do what I can."Shall better the world as he goes down life's hill;
The willing young heart makes the
capable man,
And does what he can, oft can do what he will.
There's strength in the impulse to help
things along.
And forces undreamed of will come to the aid
Of one who, though weak, yet believes
he is strong,
And offers himself to the task unfraild."I'll do what I can" is a challenge to fate,
And fate must succumb when it's
put to the test;
A heart that is willing to labor and wait,
In its tussle with life, ever comes out the best.
It puts the blue lips of depression to rout,
And makes many difficult problems
seem plain;
It mounts over obstacles, dissipates
doubt,
And unravels kinks in life's curious chain."I'll do what I can" keeps the progress machine
In good working order as centuries
roll,
And civilization would perish if ween,
Were those words not written on the soil,

They seek now inventions to benefit
man;
They fear no exertion, make pastime
of toil,
Oh, great is earth's debt to "I'll do what I can."

THE MOTHER OF A SOLDIER.The mother of a soldier,—hats off to her I say!
The mother of a soldier who has gone
to face the fray;
She gave him to her country, with a blessing on his head,—
She found him this morning in the long list of the dead;
"Killed—Sergeant Thomas Watkins,
while leading on the rear,
A Bible in his pocket and a portrait on his breast!"The mother of a soldier,—she gave him
to her land;
She saw him on the transport as he
waved his sunburned hand;
She kissed him through the tear drops
and she told him to be brave;
Her prayers went night and morning with her boy upon the wave.The mother of a soldier,—her comfort and her joy,
She gave her dearest treasure when she gave her only boy;
She saw the banners waving, she heard
the people cheer;
She clasped her hands and bravely looked away to hide a tear.The mother of a soldier,—Ah! cheer the hero dead,
And cheer the brave who battle 'neath
the banner of their creed;
But don't forget the mothers, through all the lonely years,
That fight the bravest battles on the sunless field of tears.Nay, don't forget the mothers,—the mothers of our men,
Who see them go and never know that they'll come back again;
That give them to their country, to battle and to die,
Because the bugles call them and the starry banners fly.—Foster McKinsey in Baltimore "News."BETTER LATE THAN NEVER.Life is a race where some succeed, While others are beginning;
'Tis luck at times, at others speed,
That gives an early winning.
But if you chance to fall behind,
Ne'er slacken your endeavor,
But keep this wholesome truth in mind,
'Tis better late than never.If you can keep ahead, 'tis well,
But never trip your neighbor;
'Tis noble when you can assist
By honest patient labor;
But if you are outstripped at last,
Press on as bold as ever;
Remember, though you are outstripped,
'Tis better late than never.Ne'er labor for an idle boast
Of victory o'er another,
But while you strive your utmost,
Deal fairly with your brother,
What's your status, do your best,
And hold your position ever.AFTER

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass. From women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache,
indigestion and nervous prostration.
Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vege-
If you want special advice write
Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it.
It is free and always helpful.And if you fail to beat the rest,
'Tis better late than never.Choose well the path in which you run,
Succeed by noble daring,
Then, though the last, when once 'tis won
Your crown is worth the wearing.
Then never fret if left behind,
Nor slacken your endeavor,
But ever keep this truth in mind—
'Tis better late than never.A CUEL OF GOLD.
A leather trunk, dust covered—
How well I remember that!
It stood in the rough old attic,
Just over the creaking stair;
And I ventured up one morning,
And stooped through the open door;
I remember the way the sunlight
Fell checkered upon the floor.And I knelt by the trunk, dust covered,
And lifted the queer old lid,
And looked at the ancient costumes
The years and the trunk had hid;
But a tiny box I opened,
As I sat in the shadows there,
And into my lap there tumbled
The curl of baby's hair!The tears quickly rushed to my eyelids
As I lifted the curl of gold,—
It held such a silent story—
Such a deep sweet tale untold!
And I thought of the years long vanished,
And a mother kneeling there—
As she buried her grief in the casket,
With that curl of her baby's hair!And I silently tenderly placed it
In the box where it lay before,
And closed the old trunk, while the sunlight
Fell checkered upon the floor;
Then I passed from the rough old attic
And down by the creaking stair,
But I couldn't forget the mother—
And that curl of her baby's hair.

The road to success is paved with good advertisements.

In advertising always say what you believe, if you wish people to believe what you say.

You don't have to go to war to be patriotic. Improve your locality, uphold your town, enlarge its interests, and lend a hand to progress, and you are a patriot—a lover of your country—as truly as the soldier who shoulders his musket.

The world would be happier if the people were a little more generous with their praise. There is too much flattery, but a word of just appreciation would cheer the heart and strengthen the hands of many a discouraged worker in the home, in the school, in the church and in the world.

An exchange gives an incident that illustrates the impossibility of telling where the trouble resulting from a mortgage will end. A man mortgaged his farm to buy his wife a pair of earrings. The wife took in washing to pay the interest on the mortgage, and the first day lost one of the diamonds in the sink, and tried to hang herself in the barn, but the rope broke and she fell on a $150 Jersey cow breaking its back.

The farmer who owns a farm is the particular person who is fixed. Banks may fail and factories close, workmen strike and mines suspend, merchants fail and towns burn, times may be panicky and even crops may be short—but the farmer who owns his acres will get along. He will live in comfort and quiet, with plenty to eat, drink and wear. He is the most independent man on earth. Yet there are lots of them who do not appreciate their situation.

OUR MILITARY EXPENDITURES.

But by far the most serious cause of our greatly increasing expenditures is the cost of maintaining and enlarging our military establishments. The total appropriations for the army, navy, fortifications, and military academy for 1910 were $248,312,714.72, while the appropriations for the same purposes for 1897 were only $61,688,477.23. The appropriations for 1910 exceeded those for 1897 by over 400 per cent. The total appropriations for all other purposes, exclusive of postal expenditures, for 1897 were $315,533,568.50, while for 1910 they were $669,876,712.40, or an increase of 114 per cent. In other words, the percentage of increase in expenditures for preparation for war is more than double the percentage of increase in all other expenditures, including postal.

During the fiscal year 1909 we expended in preparation for war, that is, for our army, navy, fortifications, and other objects made necessary by our present policy, 22 1/2 per cent of our entire revenue for that year, exclusive of postal receipts, and an amount of post war we expended 32 per cent of our total revenue, or for both purposes 77 1/2 per cent. During 1910 we expended 78 1/2 per cent for all other governmental purposes outside of the postal service. While it is practically impossible to reduce our expenditures on an account of post war, it is possible to reduce very greatly our expenditures in preparation for war, without jeopardizing to the least our national safety, and it is to be hoped that the collection of taxes of the people will be the most direct future means that we can use to reduce our expenditures on military for the great nation of an unwarlike nation of peace.

A GOOD POSITION.

Can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of "Wireless" or "Radio" telegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $75 to $100 per month, with good chance for advancement. The National Telegraph Institute operates a special institute in America, under supervision of R. R. and Wireless officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details at Chestnut, O. or Philadelphia, Pa. 2232.

One on the Hotel Man.

"There is one thing about this place," testified the hotel proprietor, "and that is we never make any false claims. Anything you see on the menu can be served at once."

"That ain't" chuckled the humorous guest as he looked over the menu card. "Well, bring me some champagne."

THE LASH OF A FIEND.

could have been about as welcome to A. Cooper of Chicago, N. Y., as a more intense long-lasting cough that lasted all summer for years. "It was most troublesome at night," he writes, "nothing helped me till I used Dr. King's New Discovery which cured me completely. I never cough at night now." Millions know the wonderful merit for asthma, colds, catarrhs, coughs, croup, whooping cough, and all other lung troubles. It is quick and sure relief. A trial container, free, sent on request. FOR OCTOBER.

O. T. Roosevelt has come back to the West.

Of all the Rough Riders, his luck was the best.

He rode from Dakota to San Juan Hill.

And he found him the Spaniards he wanted to kill.

Shouting, "Into 'em, Teddy, An' into 'em deep!"

And the men of Granada Went down in a heap.

He rested his broncho and fed him his fill, and then he rode yelling up Capitol Hill. He wasn't expecting or asking a thing, but he landed right in the political ring, shouting "Into 'em, Teddy, and into 'em plump!" and the poor politicians went down in a lump.

He watered his pinto and fed him some oats.

And then he remounted and hunted for goats.

He found him some people who didn't agree.

With all of his notions, and gave a whoop-pee.

Yelling, "Into 'em, Teddy, An' into 'em hot!"

And he knocked them all into The pitiless lot.

He lobbied his charger and gave him some grass, and then he went after someone in his class. He put up a lion with blood in its eye, and he clapped on the spurs with a terrible cry, saying "Into 'em, Teddy, an' into 'em hard!"

And the lion passed on to his final reward.

He breathed his good mustang and looked him around, But further adventure was not to be found.

So he pulled up his trousers and pulled down his vest,

And slowly rode back to his old-time West.

Shouting, "Back to 'em, Teddy, An' back to 'em proud!"

And they gathered about him And solemnly bowed.

He rode in his saddle, and rode on his head, and he put all his tenderest under the bed. He dashed to the east, and he dashed to the West, and he halted before them, expanding his chest, saying, "Three cheers for Teddy, the pride of the West!" and they took a great pleasure in doing the rest.

October is for the Latin acts, meaning eight, and it was formerly the eighth month of the year. This brought the football season around at a time when there was grave danger of being suffocated before the ball was even put into play, and there was a great deal of dissatisfaction at the old Greek and Roman universities. A change was frequently talked of, but it remained for Noma Pomplun, who was one of the early friends of education, to do anything about it. In 713 B. C. he moved October along to its present place in the calendar, and now the quarterback on a football team always says before snapping the ball.

Noma, Noma, R. C.

Come seven, One, three!

After which the rosters, who tracked a very high state of proficiency in the latter days of Noma, retire.

Noma, Noma, Come seven, One, three, R. C.

Whoopee! Hurrah!

or whatever the name of the school is, as you may hear them doing any time this month by following the sign wagon when it passes.

Tell the Old of the month, October will be under the influence of Libra, the Balance, which is the seventh sign of the zodiac. This will enable every body working for office to keep on the fence pretty well as to the real issues of the campaign, but when the sun passes out of that constellation on the following day they will begin sleeping on one side or the other, and it will be easier to make out who the true friends of the people are. After the 23d we will be influenced by Scorpio, the Scorpion, which is almost meaning less now, but in early times typified the manner in which the north wind stung the old Greeks, who were in the habit of going out very late in the season without having on any wear to speak of, either over or under.

A tip - I fail to see how a thing can be anything about - When the grapes are ripe - And the time is opportune for heat - When the water gets his trappings out - Answered by the time of year, And the farmer fancies without, And has within begins to sweat.

And then November will return With cold and chilly draft, And the wild geese going down the line With winter biting aft.

Indulge - We have an excellent alternative chance for a bright, energetic woman, well and favorably known in this community. The details address, enclosing stamped self addressed envelope to Manager, Lock Box 750, St. Paul, Minn.

THINK IT OVER

Would the ablest business man in the country have a bank account if there was no advantage or convenience in it? Would they have been able to reach their present commanding position if they had spent half their time worrying about the safety of the money they had made?

THE RUMFORD NATIONAL BANK

Invites you to open an account as they did. The same advantages they found in so doing will accrue to you if you accept the invitation.

4 PER CENT. INTEREST.

Get on-n-u-u-u of here—dablime your skin!"

Ab, that's the proper time to sigh— When the squirrel gets his goodies in Against the winter by-and-by.

When the bending reaches of the sky Are very soft and very near, And the farmer, with a watchful eye, Begins to hop around and cry,

"Get on-n-u-u-u of here!"

Get on-n-u-u-u of here—your blanky blank!"

Ab, that's the season of them all— When winter hangs upon the dank Of the wild goose passing in the fall.

When the plaintive quail begins to call, Across the golden fields and scar, And the farmer, bawling from the tall With leaps and bounds, begins to bawl:

"Get on-n-u-u-u of here!"

The melancholy Hays will come, and the pheasant will intone his drum upon the sad and drowsy wind in the solemn manner of his kind. The booming frog will snuff and breeze and fall to digging on his knees, and the buckwheat cake will take a crack at this fool thing of coming back.

It may be Jeffrey and his strain are never quite themselves again, but the pickled pig's foot and the rest are at ways equal to the test. They never dispirite a bit, but spend the summer piling and sit, and let the frost succeed the dew, and they're there, you bet, as good as new.

The doughty oyster on his shell, the chitlin looking strong and well, and clear and resolute of eye, the hardy brands of winter pie. The applebutter, juice and flake, the same that mother used to make, and the crackling of our youthful lot the cock and captain of the pot.

The football season will revert, and the center rush will paw the dirt. He'll wake the natives with his roar, and bawl for victory and gore. The piled-up dying and the dead will mass against his butting head, and he'll spin the planet in his rage just like a squirrel in his cage.

Alas for those who calmly sit deciding to "renature it, and all the college renegades who think to temper it for mauls! The students and the teachers howl, and the rosters and the bleachers yell, and blazed to be who does not rise and kill somebody twice his size.

The aeroplanes will cruise the air above the old-time county fair, and the lucky winner will be he who wins the best two falls in three. The farmer in his limousine will lool around upon the green, and the hired man will seize the chance to wear his other pair of pants.

The softer weather will defy The blanchments of June, And the month will give us by and by The officeholder's moon.

A chep will cost four bits a pound, And beef a buck a bit, And the well will wear a groove around The cabin every night.

The fifth anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus will be celebrated on the night of the 14th by the seven Guggenheims brothers.

Mr. Roosevelt will be stage manager again this month. The village will be the Boston Room. Mr. Bryan will be the father of the stolen child, and Mr. Cannon, who made the password Hell last month, will change it to read Hell!

And then November will return With cold and chilly draft, And the wild geese going down the line With winter biting aft.

Before one is to wear a low gown it is well to have the neck carefully gone over with green soap, which must be then rinsed off and the neck massaged a bit with cold cream. This should be done early, so the skin may have time to resume its whiteness before dressing.

The pulse of head is harder to acquire. Many an otherwise lovely neck is ruined by the pulse of head. Perhaps it is thrust forward, or is carried to one side or hunched into the shoulders. Any of these habits is unsightly, and should be fought.

This must be done by neck and head exercise. One of the best is to sit and walk with a book on head each day. Do not stiffen the muscles to hold this weight, but manage it by balance. Practice will enable one to move the head and neck freely, with no thought of the head weight.

A good neck depends largely upon the general health. Deep breathing exercises are excellent. The windows are raised and one loosens the collar and rotates the head and neck in every direction at the same time holding the breath or drawing in long, deep breaths. Not only will the neck improve, but so will the nerves.

No woman can hope to have a good neck who insists upon wearing high stiff collars. Except when on the street the woman who lives at home should wear a collarless gown that leaves the throat free. When collars must be worn they should be soft, loose, and lined with white so as not to discolor the skin.

Cracker Turnovers.
One pint of rolled cracker crumbs. Add milk enough for a thick batter, then add two eggs, two teaspoonsful of baking powder, and a pinch of salt. Fry as pancakes, then put a teaspoonful of jelly on them and turn one-half the cake over on to the jelly.

Rye Drop Cakes.
Two-thirds cup rye flour, two-thirds cup flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons molasses, one-half cup milk, one egg well beaten. Drop by spoonfuls in hot fat, drain and serve.

DON'T BREAK DOWN.

Govern studies on the vital organs, like strains on machinery, cause break-downs. You can't overtax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or nerves without serious danger to yourself. If you are weak or run-down, or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters the matchless twin medicine. Mrs. J. E. Van de Sande, of Kirkland, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down, while enduring a most severe strain, for three months, is due wholly to Electric Bitters." Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction positively guaranteed. See at "Glee Tavern" of Rumford Falls. Nathan Reynolds of Canton. H. J. Reynolds of Hallowville. C. A. Gardner of Dixfield.

WET FEET COST MORE THAN
MALDEN
Rubbers

"COLDS," RHEUMATISM, and PNEUMONIA levy a large toll on carelessness each season. Wet feet are responsible for more ill than you are aware of. One doctor's bill will provide the whole family with rubbers for years.

are the very best that can be made. Only the best Para-together and vulcanized into one piece.

This, in brief, is the Malden story. Look for the Business this season three times that of last.

Hotel will have to be considerably enlarged by purchasers or ourselves for next season, also stock of cases and boats increased to 60 or 65 to meet the demand for renting, also tents and other outfitting goods added to present stock in proportion.

Have taken in to date $7,000.00 the outfitting business is more profitable than the hotel, have hardly been able to meet the demand in this line this season.

Joe Lake is key to starting point to the Parks, waterways, to save time and money one must start in here and get established here. Outfitting business and profit on store sales has been $5,000 clear this season, can be doubled next and hotel be made quite profitable by enlarging, and having experienced instead of inexperienced management. Bigger offers for the present at $20,000.00.

THE IDEAL.

Have we not all, amid life's petty strife,
Some pure ideal of a noble life
That once seemed possible? Did we not hear
The flutter of wings, and feel it near,
And just within our reach? It was
And yet
We lost it in this daily jar and fret.
But still our place is kept, and it will wait,
Ready for us to fill it soon or late.
No star is ever lost we once have seen;
We always may be what we might have been.

THE GIRLS MEN ADMIRE.

They admire the girl who is her mother's right hand in household matters, and who is not above taking an interest in the most trivial things in connection with home duties. They admire the girl who is a bright, entertaining companion, and who has over a kind word and pleasant smile for those around. They admire the girl who is always neatly groomed, no matter if in inexpensive materials, and who never dresses loudly or in questionable taste. They admire the girl who can adapt herself to any society, who would scorn to do an action of which all the world might not know. They admire the girl who, in an emergency, can turn her hand to anything, from cooking the family dinner to retrimming an old hat. They admire the girl who is unselfish enough to give up some pleasure of her own to benefit another, and does not consider herself aggrieved at having to do so. They admire the girl who can talk of more important things than dress or the last new play, and who can listen intelligently when deeper subjects are introduced.

AN EMERGENCY BOX.

Every mother should have a box, kept in a safe and easily accessible place, containing some of the things likely to be needed in common emergencies, such as pieces of soft old linen and cotton, rolls of bandage, from half an inch to an inch and a half wide (these may be made from a worn linen sheet), adhesive plaster for cuts, a wide mouthed bottle filled with bicarbonate of soda—common baking soda—for burns, a bottle of witchhazel for bruises, a roll of absorbent cotton for use in covering the chest when there is a cold there, pieces of flannel to wrap around rheumatic joints, and last but not least, a hot water bag. To these she may add, if she likes to do so, such remedies as the state of her children's health makes it likely they may require at a moment's notice, to wit: her favorite cough mixture, toothache medicine, camphorated oil for the wee bairn who gets "hucky" at night, and so on. She should keep her medicines in a locked box beside the other, and give one key to a trusted maid, keeping the other herself, and being sure not to mislay it at the very moment it is wanted.

BE BEAUTIFUL.

Thackeray says, "The world is a looking-glass that reflects our looks, whether they are sweet or sour." It treats with our young readers, as well as with those of mature growth, whether this truth telling mirror shows them plain or beautiful faces. Happiness makes beauty. Even the girl who thinks she is plain, if she will, can so change her expression that the world's mirror would reflect a beautiful face. "One morning," says an exchange, "a girl whose face was under a cloud of unhappiness, from constantly laboring under the impression that she was plain, walked out into the sunshine of the park. In a moment the gloom lifted, for the brightness of the morning had made her thoughts generally pleasant. 'What a pretty, happy girl that is we have just passed!' she heard one of two ladies say to the other. 'Why, they mean me!' she exclaimed, in pleased surprise. No one ever called me pretty before. It must be because I am smiling.' Again, as she entered a street car, she heard: 'Do you see that pretty-looking girl?' 'Well, I declare,' she mused, 'I am always going to look happy. If this is what comes of it I have thought myself fairly all my life, and have twice in one day I've been called pretty.' From that day she did try to look happy, and now she is regularly considered as one of the best looking beauties of her social circle."

This little story contains a lesson for our boys as well as our girls, and I hope they will always see the reflection of a beautiful face in the world's mirror. It is the duty of every woman to dress neatly and look as well as possible, in her home as well as elsewhere.

NURSERY NOTES.

Scalds and burns are more fatal in children than in adults. The blisters arising from them should never be cut. Every part of a child's body, except the head, should be warmly clad; to keep the head too warm increases the tendency to brain disease, so very common among children nowadays. Next, after warmth, children need freedom—freedom for movement in all limbs. They want to exercise their muscles even more than their brains, and they never will be quiet or staid unless they are ill. Do not startle a child; many nervous diseases can be traced to a sudden noise or alarming object frightening and startling the infant. Don't allow a child to sleep with an older person; its rest will be less disturbed and more beneficial alone.

SELF CULTURE.

God be thanked for books. They are the voice of the distant and the dead, and make us heirs of the spiritual life of past ages. Books are the true levelers. They give to all who will faithfully use them, the society, the spiritual presence of the best and greatest of our race. No matter how poor I am, no matter though the prospect of my own time will not enter my obscure dwelling. If the sacred writers will enter and take up their abode under my roof, if Milton will cross my threshold to sing to me of paradise, and Shakespeare, to open to me the world of imagination and the workings of the human heart, and Franklin to enrich me with his practical wisdom, I shall not pine for want of intellectual companionship, and I may become a cultivated man though excluded from what is called the best society in the place where I live.—Channing.

Nothing Steady Attract It.
Tom—Gruel has a bright thought now and then.

Jack—Yes; if I do ever far brain fever it will be intermittent.

LOCAL HISTORY.

completely, some of the buildings still remain in good repair, and it is safe to say without fear of contradiction that the village of Wiscasset furnished more evidence of social refinement and intellectual culture than any other place of its size in the State, but a change came. The lumber supply ceased, the back country, ended with the Kennebec river, mercantile life came to an end; fire destroyed the warehouses of the water front; grave yard enclosures increased in size but the old brick court house, containing the records of a century and a half remains intact.

The old Portland Eastern Argus of June 1, 1831, contains a description of the building, and it is as follows:

"NEW COURT HOUSE."

"A new Court House for the county of Lincoln is now erecting at Wiscasset. The first Wiscasset paper says: 'The foundation of this building is a rock, and the whole lower story is to be solid—the building is 44 by 61 feet—the deepest closets are in the corners—each to be covered with an arch of brick, the other with stone—there will be rooms for the Clerk, Register of Deeds and Register of Probate, with a court room, and two rooms for Justice below—there are also to be two convenient bibles above stairs for Justice, or other purpose, and a small one immediately behind the Judge's seat, with a passage from it into the yard. All around the building will be surrounded. The plan is a very simple one, and the building is to be in readiness by the next session of the supreme court in September.'"

The court house structure is located upon high ground, containing and is surrounded by the air of antiquity. Its interior as well as its exterior indicates this. It stands out to the plain in front which is extended by a street some six rods wide that runs in a southerly direction to the naturally well protected water of the harbor which does not freeze in the coldest winter weather, whence follows the long bridge to the town of Hallowell, leading near the old wooden fort that has been noticed. This street, like some others in the State, was designed and was when military exhibitions were sought with avidity by those who wanted a "day off" in the spring and autumn. Half way up the "town pump," with fountain of some water, it is claimed, that any other well of its size in the State. Adjacent to the residence of Francis Jones, Esq., a well-known and old, now used as an inn, being serving the State as the first Attorney General and consequently for a period of twelve years. Upon the opposite side of the street and a little further up the hill may be seen the ancient appearing brick and stone of the residence of John Jones, Esq., father to Gov. Samuel Johnson Smith who was elected governor of the State in 1831, and served two additional terms. His residence still standing a little westward of the court house, containing every piece of furniture, it is said, that was in it when the governor departed this life March 8, 1883, aged 73 years.

At the head of the street stands the right hand corner adjoining the platform stand the hall that was converted to a court house and on the opposite corner stood the brick back building the present court house and Congressional meeting place standing upon the opposite side of the platform, or common as it is now called, in other words, facing the end of the broad street—whenever way the arguments would meet. The court house is located with the end to the public grounds, removed about, with a window each side and an octagonal belfry, the structure being two story, a wide corridor leading from front to rear, the rear end of which is used for the storage of wood for heating the building, there being no basement, or cellar, as the largest description of timber, fireplaces being still in use.

The second block of land there are not kept to the main building but in a one story addition behind the main office room of the register, and not a single has been destroyed by fire in the registry of deeds or any department of the county building since.

Terrible Suffering

Eczema All Over Baby's Body.

"When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema, and at sixteen months of age his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask or cloth over his face and tie up his hands. Finally we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few weeks he was entirely cured. Today he is a healthy boy." Mrs. Isaac Lewis, Hallowell, Maine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures blood diseases and builds up the system. It is sold in small round form or chocolate tablets called Sarsaparils.

1703 when Lincoln county was created. The old Wiscasset court house had a narrow path adjacent—the present jail building is some considerable distance off and is anything but pleasing to look upon. It is constructed of granite but the keeper's house is made of brick.

All the names of persons I have presented connected with the proposed hall that was finally finished as a Court House represent men of character. I would be pleased to give each more of a notice than a bare mention of the name possessed but cannot do so only in one instance and that of

DAVID SYLVESTER, Esq.

Chairman of the committee chosen by the proprietors of the Hall Association in contract for the erection of the proposed structure in 1793 that was not completed till some five years later by the Court of Sessions of the Peace. His name appears also as David Sylvester. A David's name appears in the census enumeration of 1793 as occupying a log house with one room, no glass or chimney, or some are reported.

In 1793 a David Sylvester, Esq. died, aged 50, and the logical inference is this was the David, chairman of the committee on the hall construction, and his sickness and death caused the delay in building and change in ownership of the structure.

In the old Wiscasset cemetery located upon the most unfit piece of ground for such a purpose is a single tomb with a long inscription on the tablet which I copied from the original and here present as follows:

"Here lies entombed the mortal part of

"David Sylvester, Esq., many years a Magistrate who distributed justice and promoted peace among his fellowmen. From the early institution of the Society until his death he was Master of
